

Dr. Fontaine Sands

Dr. Sands has been teaching content related to health services management, epidemiology, leadership/management, performance improvement, and behavior change at the University level since 2010 (Assistant Professor UK College Public Health 2 years; Associate Professor ECU Baccalaureate and Graduate Nursing 5 years). She also has clinical experience as a unit manager, case management, performance improvement coordinator, program coordinator, hospital epidemiologist, and nationally certified as an infection prevention and control nurse. In many of these positions Dr. Sands has been the primary leader of performance improvement projects that have included elements of behavior change theory.

Session: Behavior Change with Performance Improvement: Does it Require Planning?

